About

Network Wars is a series of blockchain battles presented by ArchID. Players attempt to control the Archway Network by submitting on-chain interactions that will evolve over time.

Each season will have a new objective and play mechanics. The first round of every season will have a prize pot seeded by the ArchID team, funding for prizes of subsequent rounds of the season will be determined solely by players.

Season 1

A game where the winner gets all the prize funds if the timer runs out and they're the last depositor. Each winner has a limited amount of time to withdraw the prize. If they do not claim within this timeframe, anyone can start a new game round, and the winner will have lost their chance to claim the round prize.

ArchID will seed the prize pot in round 1 with 20,000 ARCH.

Battle Objectives
1. Be the last depositor before the timer runs out
2. Winners: claim your prize within the specified time
3. Losers: steal the winner's chance of claiming the prize when/if they don't claim in time

Testnet

Until mainnet launch, a testnet version of Network Wars is available for play at netwars.archid.app.

Playing on testnet requires owning a testnet ArchID, which can be obtained at test.archid.app. To obtain testnet ARCH (CONST), use the #faucet channel of the Archway Discord.

Rules

1. Players must deposit at least 25 ARCH to control the network
2. Each deposit increases the game timer by 30 seconds, and increases the prize pot by the amount deposited
3. Depositing players must own an ArchID
4. Depositing more than 25 ARCH will not increase the timer more than 30 seconds
5. Depositing less than 25 ARCH will not control the network
6. When a player wins a round, they must claim the prize within 1 hour
7. If a winner does not claim the prize within 1 hour, anyone can start a new round
8. When a new round is started, the starting timer expires in 24 hours and any prize funds remaining are carried over to the next round

FAQ

How do I get ARCH?
Eligible countries might use the following but do so at their own discretion and at subject to the laws which govern their jurisdictions
- connect.archway.io
- app.osmosis.zone
- Astrovault.io

Can a game round continue forever?
Technically, yes, but only if players are willing to pay exorbitant amounts. There are 172,800 half minutes in a day. Therefore, a round requires a minimum of 4,320,000 ARCH in deposits for it to be sustained for more than 24 hours.

What if someone makes a bot?
The minimum deposit threshold of 25 ARCH applies to everyone. The 20,000+ ARCH prize in round 1 will be won by the player with the best funding strategy for outlasting everyone else, not by timing differences between clicking buttons versus scripted transactions.

When season 2?
We're hoping to release new game seasons quarterly.
